With over six years of experience in teaching IB and IGCSE Psychology, I've had the privilege of working with students from diverse backgrounds. I've guided countless students through their Extended Essays, helping them develop critical thinking and research skills. My approach is student-centred, focusing on each individual's strengths and areas for growth. Through one-on-one sessions and group workshops, I aim to inspire a genuine interest in psychology and ensure that my students are well-prepared for their exams and future academic challenges.
